MESSAGE FROM OUR BOARD'S PRESIDENT

Dear Fellow Association Members,

Our association functions best when homeowners are actively involved in its leadership. Serving on the association board is not just a formality—it is essential to maintaining a well-run, transparent, and responsive community.

Board members make decisions that directly affect our property values, financial stability, and quality of life. When residents serve, the board benefits from a wider range of perspectives, skills, and experiences. This leads to better decision-making, stronger oversight of vendors and finances, and policies that more accurately reflect the needs and priorities of the community.

When too few members are willing to serve, our effectiveness is limited. A small or understaffed board can become overburdened, decisions may be delayed, and important issues may not receive the attention they deserve. In some cases, lack of participation can force the association to rely more heavily on outside management or legal guidance, increasing costs and reducing homeowner input. Ultimately, disengagement weakens our ability to govern ourselves.

Serving on the board is also an opportunity to contribute positively, protect our investment, and help shape the future of our community. Even a short term of service can make a meaningful difference. Participation fosters transparency, accountability, and trust between the board and homeowners.

I encourage everyone to consider becoming involved—whether by serving on the board, joining a committee, or simply staying informed and engaged. A strong association depends on shared responsibility, and our community is strongest when its members step forward to lead.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Lisa Kaiser

President

Valentine's Day Throughout the Ages

From the Nottingham Evening Post 1931

In early Victorian days, the Valentine reached the height of its popularity, and became a thing of extravagance, many specimens being real works of art in their particular line. Layer after layer of cut-out paper borders surrounded the picture and verse which were often painted on padded and scented satin. Ribbon and lace, silver and gold thread were all employed, together with little Cupids on paper springs, and the whole delicate structure was packed in a cardboard box and dispatched to the maiden for whom it was destined. Sometimes gifts were inserted in the flat satin pockets, and the designing and manufacture of Valentines became an important industry.

The introduction of a hideous contrast in the form of vulgar Valentines, intended to hurt their recipients, was the first blow to the old custom. Few of the young people of 1931 are even aware that February 14th is Saint Valentine's Day, but surely the ancient saint is as busy as ever, though his emblem no longer flaunt the fact! ❤️
